ENTERPRISE PROFILE ”

Founded in 2006, Yakeda is a company integrating design, R&D, production, and sales of military and police tactical equipment and outdoor products. From a small factory to a company with four factories in different countries and three overseas warehouses, we have consistently strived to improve our capabilities and develop military and police equipment better suited for practical use.

Marco Shu upholds the spirit of "Military Quality, Pursuit of Excellence" and continuously learns and improves to maximise customer satisfaction and enhance the company's business and production levels. Your satisfaction is our greatest motivation.

ODM PROCESSING

ONE-STOP TACTICAL EQUIPMENT PROCESSING PLATFORM

The development cycle of a Yakeda product begins with numerous design sketches that explore functional and aesthetic possibilities.

After a concept has been selected, the design team drafts a technical package containing working drawings, a period of time, the final product takes shape. From creative vision to tangible reality.

MYANMAR FACTORY

Due to business expansion and insufficient production capacity, YAKEDA established a branch factory in Myanmar in 2018 after considering various factors.

The branch factory boasts significant core advantages: it benefits from Myanmar's preferential policies for foreign investment, including tax breaks and simplified approval processes; local labor and land costs are low, effectively reducing production inputs; its location at the heart of Southeast Asia ensures convenient logistics, allowing it to reach East and Southeast Asian markets; and it leverages free trade agreements to enhance export competitiveness.

The Myanmar branch factory fills the production capacity gap left by the head office, providing a stable supply to global customers with a high-performance, cost-effective production system.

THAILAND FACTORY

To address trade barriers arising from the US-China tariff friction and optimise its global production capacity layout, YAKEDA officially invested in and established a branch factory in Thailand in 2024.

Leveraging Thailand's geographical advantages, it avoids direct trade tariffs between the US and China; enjoys BOI investment incentives; and, relying on the ASEAN Free Trade Agreement and Thailand's trade arrangements with many countries, can conveniently reach markets in East Asia, Europe, America, and Southeast Asia.

The establishment of the Thai branch factory not only overcomes tariff constraints but also enhances the flexibility of the company's global supply chain, providing customers with a stable and cost-effective supply of products.

➤ BUCKLE INJECTION MOLDING MACHINE

The fastener injection molding machine is a specialized injection molding equipment for manufacturing various plastic fasteners. It usually adopts vertical or horizontal structures and features high precision, high speed, and multi-cavity molding capabilities. It is suitable for producing small-sized, precisely structured, and large-batch fastener products.

Injection system: Responsible for plastic heating, plasticizing and injection. Features: Small-diameter screw, precise temperature control to ensure melt stability, suitable for commonly used materials of fasteners such as PA, PP, PC, and POM.

Mold closing system: Responsible for mold opening, mold closing, mold locking, and ejection of products.

Hydraulic/servo drive system: Provides power, controls pressure, speed and position. Features: Fast response, high repeatability accuracy, suitable for the dimensional stability requirements of snap-on products.

Cooling system: Controls the mold temperature to ensure that the fasteners quickly set and do not deform.

The buckle injection molding machine is mainly used for manufacturing the following types of plastic buckles: buckles for luggage, clothing, outdoor products, and so on.
